A SALES TAX?

The legislature is in the fifth week of the session and no revenue bills of import have been passed. One branch of the legislature voted to abolish the gross sales tax—thus taking a couple of million from schools. What are they going to do to replace this money? Florida schools must be operated full nine-months term in the future. And money must be forthcoming with which to operate them.

The racing row has had the senate tied up for weeks. Senator Graham's investigation has provided plenty of copy for the front pages but nothing much has come of the whole thing. Raising money for just like it has in the past. Days and days of time spent with nothing accomplished. With schools needing finance in years to come the senate has been tied up with the investigation with no chance to get down to real business.

From here on the slave of Lake Okechobee—far removed from the marble halls of the state capital—it begins to look like a state-wide sales tax is in the offing. Only a few more days left of the session and no definite provisions made for revenue. It could happen that during the last days of the session the legislators could become desperate and rush through as last minute legislation a sales tax. And, we wouldn't be the least bit surprised if this is what happens. This newspaper is not in favor of a sales tax for added revenue. It would favor a sales tax if and when other taxes are removed.

STRIPES ABOLISHED

"Unightly stripes" on Florida convicts are soon to become a thing of the past. The State Cabinet in session Tuesday made the decision after Agriculture Secretary Nathan Mayo, head of the prison system, made the recommendation that the stripes be abolished. We extend congratulations to Mr. Mayo and other members of the cabinet for their move.

In the future grey uniforms with a single black stripe on the pants leg and sleeve will be issued to state convicts. That is, they will be issued as their old black and white garb wears out. These uniforms are manufactured by the thousands and, no doubt, there is a big supply of the "unightly stripes" on hand, but Florida convicts should all have new grey uniforms before the passing of another year.

Lawbreakers, who are incarcerated to pay their debt to society, should not be coddled. We grant that part of the argument. But, for some reason or other we have always thought the "unightly stripes" should be abolished. In this day and age the aim of a prison system is to rehabilitate men—not to break their morale and place them in embarrassing positions. And, certainly, garbing a human in stripes did nothing toward making him a better man. It was an excellent move on the part of the state cabinet.

Await Arrival Of New Water Tank

Contractors for the Powers and Archibald Construction firm are awaiting arrival of the steel water tank and support to be erected on the concrete foundation already laid at the public park site. Arrival of the 75,000-gallon tank will enable workmen to complete the $50,000 waterworks extension program begun last fall. Refinement and enlargement of the treating plant was completed several weeks ago and the pipe line extension is rapidly nearing completion.

State Prison Farm No. 2 will not connect with the city water at present, it was learned this week. No provision will be made in the present waterworks extension program for this connection. It was originally planned that the State farm would connect with the city water mains at the water treatment limits near the airport and that

CREECH IS SPEAKER

Bob Creech, Belle Glade farmer and developer, told members of the Lions Club of West Palm Beach last Friday that schools, cattle and sugar cane are the main essentials to the further development and welfare of the Everglades.

RESELLS TOWN HALL

N. D. Lloyd, Belle Glade property owner, purchased from C. B. Rawls Saturday, Belle Glade's old town hall. Purchase price was announced as $250. The building was formerly sold at auction to Mr. Rawls for $305. Proceeds of that sale went to the town.

"SITTING IN WITH THE LAWMAKERS"

By Gilbert D. Leach
Florida News Service

Told you last week we intended to settle some questions up here pronto and get down to the real business of the legislature. The State affairs for another two years.

Now you take this racing investigation, for instance. I haven't a doubt that Senator Graham had and still has a legitimate basis for both investigation and bias. But he exhibited a lack of close acquaintance with jockeys. They could have told him a long time before the race that other folks had already anticipated what he intended to do and if he didn't change his tactics, he couldn't even "show" on the board. Taking it by and large, the Senator was lucky they didn't impinch him on some charge or other.

You folks back home may look at this thing different from the way I see it, but you must remember you're there and I'm here. I say this so-called "investigation" and "hearing" gave the boys a chance to catch up with what the boy or girl in your family would designate as "home work". All the time this committee was investigating the racing situation, there were more than two dozen Senators out in other committee meetings disposing of bills numbered from A to Z. It was a God-send to them. And that's why they're so neatly caught up with their schedule and why they are coming out as fast as they are, or—in some instances—getting their necks wrung in committee hearings.

I meant to write about "Lobbies" this week because they are an awfully important feature of this and every other meeting of any lawmaking body, but there just won't be space or time. I do hope, however, to write one week's offering on that subject.

Here we are starting on the second day of the two-month race and several of the horses have fallen out. Right now we ought to feel confident in saying that the store tax is going to be off. That half of one per cent has been more bother than it was worth, especially to the storekeepers, and they'll sign a big sigh of relief to see it gone. The only tax that has been offered to take its place is one by Cooley and Robinson to tax cigarette "nut" the amount and raise approximately the same amount of money. Personally, I don't see any other way now for the store tax to be met, except that cigarette tax. And none of us will miss the extra couple of cents a pack costs for these last cigarette smokers who read this that would wait until morning for the chain stores to open so he could get two for a quarter instead of paying 15 cents straight at the corner drug store.

Like we told you two weeks ago folks are going to have to pay their taxes. So you can expect them to begin right now to look into their assessments and see whether they're being asked or treated like their neighbors. Tax assessors in the various counties are going to be consulted as never before. They wrangled all over the House about this coddling of the delinquent taxpayer and the best that could be mustered in his favor was a slight chance of slipping something by later in the session. Add Clay Lewis tried to make it take four-fifths of the Legislature to do even that. Boy! They're fixing to collect taxes from here on out.

Now for some random shots: Milk Board milk is still a little sour (blueish, as it were); shot have as many lives as a cat—and will need them all, maybe more; gas tax has brought a lot of folk up here who didn't find anything to advocate or oppose when they got here; plumbers and barbers and beauticians and employment agency folks and a lot of others have been here looking for "boogie" but only a few little half-grown spooks could be unearthed; there are a lot of two-bit hills that nobody but the one who asked the member to introduce them understood or expected to see come law; hundreds of people bought Memorial flags from girls here and never knew what it meant; committees are chocking off a lot of stuff that would keep the legislature here for a couple of years.

Did you see that bill our fellow craftsman Ayers of Gilchrist, and Harris of Alachua, put into the House? If school teachers ought to keep on being paid after they quit teaching, says Ayers. Why? If school teachers keep on being paid after they quit farming? And especially as the farmers some years not only get docked on their pay but don't get any pay at all. So Mr. Ayers says let's give the farmers all we can up to $50 a month if they've farmed diligently on Florida clay or sand for a quarter of a century, whether consecutively or by spasms.

Watch this bill, if it becomes law nearly all of us can get in it for most editors in Florida farm on the side and if they raise a couple of rubias each season the net profit ought to be more than they make in their shops and that entitles them to the retirement pay. Of course, it may not pass. The farmers have no lobby, it's interesting to watch the three enforces to the office of Governor Cone. The Governor said he wasn't going to stick his nose into the legislature's business and as far as I have seen, he hasn't but that doesn't keep folks who get hot and bothered about how things are going for or against a horseman Senator Graham had consulting "Uncle Fred" about it. Sometimes the corridor is as quiet as the Sunday school room of a Baptist church Saturday morning and again it turns with humanity and the babbling is almost as buzzing as that in the lobby on floor above. You can tell by that whether the Governor is in. There's a liquor lobby here all the time but up to now all its troubles have been little ones. The drug stores got upset last week about the proposal to make them serve their hot dogs in a separate room, but that's one of the bills that can be put out without a general alarm. There is less "freak stuff" in this session than I ever saw either in Florida, California, Kentucky, Indiana, Georgia or Alabama—excepting legislators. I have "eat in" upon.

Next week may develop nothing but "freaky stuff" which can be told in a few important words. Then I can digress and tell you about the lobbies and maybe a few words about that interesting subject, the attaches. Until then, adieu!

New Town Hall To Be Dedicated Soon

Belle Glade's new town hall passed official inspection last Thursday morning when A. D. Newkirk, traveling engineer for the Public Works Administration, made a final inspection of the hall and connecting jail in company with members of the town council, whom Mr. Newkirk, architect, and Contractor Don Hillier.

The building was formally accepted by the council Wednesday and the fire department moved in to their adjoining quarters last Sunday after the warning siren and equipment had been installed by members of the volunteer department. No definite date has been set for moving into the building, but plans are being made for dedication exercises in the near future.

The town hall and jail project represents an investment of $225,000, 45 per cent of which was a PWA grant, and the balance was loaned by the PWA on the security of bonds issued by the town.
